1. Intent

At Bridgewater Primary School we recognise the central importance of English, as a subject in its own right, and as the most cohesive area of learning. Gaining and using skills in language not only affects the child's progress in school, but also has a profound influence upon the course of his or her whole life. All pupils will be given opportunities to develop their use, knowledge and understanding of spoken and written English within a broad and balanced curriculum, with opportunities to consolidate and reinforce taught English skills as at Bridgewater Primary School, we strive for children to be a 'Primary Literate Pupil'.

By the age of 11 we aim for a child to be able to:

- speak clearly and audibly in ways in which take account of their listeners
- adapt their speech to a wide range of circumstances and demands
- reflect on their own and other's language used
- have a suitable technical vocabulary to articulate their responses
- listen carefully and respond appropriately
- read and write with confidence, fluency and understanding, orchestrating a range of independent strategies to self-monitor and correct
- use a growing vocabulary in spoken and written form
- understand a range of text types and genres – be able to write in a variety of styles and forms appropriate to the situation
- use their powers of imagination, inventiveness and critical awareness through reading and writing
- have fluent, legible handwriting

2. STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS

Statutory requirements for the teaching and learning of English are laid out in the National Curriculum English Programme (2014) and Early Years Foundation Stage Statutory Framework (revised Dec 24).

In the Foundation Stage (Nursery and Reception) children should be given opportunities to:

- Engage actively in stories, non-fiction, rhymes and poems.
- Be provided with extensive opportunities to use and embed new words in a range of contexts.
- Through conversation, storytelling and role-play, share their ideas with support and modelling from adults with the addition of sensitive questioning. Children will be comfortable using a rich range of vocabulary and language structures.
- Through a range of adult directed activities and independent learning within continuous provision, practise and embed the complexities of writing.

At Key Stage One (Years 1 and 2), children should learn to speak confidently and listen to what others have to say. They should begin to read and write independently and with enthusiasm. They should use language to explore their own experiences and imaginary worlds.

At Key Stage Two (Years 3-6), children should learn to change the way they speak and write to suit different situations, purposes and audiences. They should read a range of texts and respond to different layers of meaning in them. They should explore the use of language in literary and non-literary texts and learn how the structure of language works.

THE GOVERNING BODY

Regular reports are made to the governors on the progress of English provision.

This policy will be reviewed every year or in the light of changes to legal requirements.

3. IMPLEMENTATION

The English Curriculum is delivered using an adapted version of Pie Corbett's 'Talk for Writing' and 'Talk for Reading'. The Early Learning Goals are followed to ensure continuity and progression from the Foundation Stage through to the National Curriculum. Pupil provision is related to attainment, not age.

At Bridgewater Primary we use the following sequence as a basis for teaching all English skills:

- Read and talk the text – reading or telling.
- Comprehension – deepen understanding through discussion, drama, writing in role, representing and exploring the text.
- Analysis – read as a writer.
- Stimulus – something interesting to write about.
- Plan and talk the text – gather and organise ideas - talk the text prior to writing - take feedback, refining and retelling.
- Writing – draft, polish and publish writing.

NB writing skills permeate each stage of the teaching sequence.

Planning - a common format is used in the long, medium and short term with evaluations of teaching and learning completed weekly. Teachers highlight areas identified for development in subsequent planning.

Working Walls - are present in every classroom, they clearly show the learning journey and can be readily referenced by children. They have examples of published texts and children's work.

Class library - Every classroom has a well-stocked, inviting reading area.

4. APPROACHES TOWARDS COMMUNICATION, LANGUAGE AND LITERACY DEVELOPMENT (Early Years)

In the Foundation Stage there is an emphasis on speaking and listening, which is continuously modelled to the children by all teaching staff. Systematic and discrete phonics is at the heart of teaching children to read and early phonics skills are the first reading strategy taught to children. Phonics teaching (Little Wandle) is fast paced and consistent across EYFS and KS1. Robust assessment and rapid catch up programmes ensure early identification of children who require additional support. Effective monitoring of teaching and learning and high quality teaching is central to the children's development.

APPROACHES TO SPEAKING AND LISTENING (KS1 AND KS2)

The Four Strands of Speaking and Listening: Speaking; Listening; Group Discussion and Interaction, and Drama permeate the whole curriculum. Interactive teaching strategies are used to engage all pupils in order to raise reading and writing standards. Children are encouraged to develop effective communication skills in readiness for later life.

Opportunities for Speaking and Listening include paired talk, class discussion and presentations.

5. INTENT AND IMPLEMENTATION OF READING

At Bridgewater Primary our intent is to ensure that we are a 'Reading School' and as such, we place a very high value on the importance of reading both in school and at home.

We believe that there are two aspects to reading - Reading to Learn and Learning to Read, and that the two components to reading are: word recognition and comprehension. The two skills are taught separately and the balance between the two changes as children acquire and secure automatic decoding skills. We use an adapted version of Pie Corbett's 'Talk for Reading' and engage in book talk and modelling 'how to read like a reader'.

The Reading Experience at Bridgewater Primary:

- 20-30 minutes daily phonics teaching in EYFS and Key Stage 1
- Whole class guided reading taught daily in Key Stage 2
- Reading practice sessions taught 3 times per week in EYFS and Key Stage 1
- Reading for stamina (extended reading) taught weekly in Years 4-6
- Shared reading
- Regular, independent reading
- Paired reading
- Home/school reading
- A shared book/class novel daily
- Wider reading experiences
- Reading environment

At Bridgewater Primary we implement different strategies in the teaching of reading:

Phonics – Little Wandle programme is taught for 20-30 minutes daily. Children in Reception are taught to read and spell words using Phase 2 and 3 GPCs, and words with adjacent consonants (Phase 4) with fluency and accuracy. Children in Year 1 review phases 3 and 4 and are taught to read and spell words using Phase 5 GPCs with fluency and accuracy. Phonics is systematically assessed and tracked by class teachers and the English and Phonics Coordinator.

Shared reading provides an opportunity for the teacher to model fluent, expressive text reading for the whole class. It also provides the opportunity for teachers to reinforce reading strategies. Shared reading is incorporated into the English teaching sequence and throughout the curriculum. Teachers use high quality texts covering all genres.

Whole class guided reading extends the opportunities provided by shared reading as a whole class. This is planned, assessed and monitored. There is a clear focus by the teacher on the specific strategies the learners need to be introduced to during the guided session and then develop, practise and apply during their independent session. All books are banded and are available for all year groups. In 2019 the English lead interviewed children for their views of reading and based on this, and support from Oxford University Press, restocked all reading books to ensure children are engaged and captivated in the texts our school provides. Cracking Comprehension is used to supplement the range of texts.

Early Reading (EYFS)

Nursery: Children develop book handling and early comprehension skills through the use of wordless books.

Reception: Little Wandle phonics programme; reading practise involves children reading books that are matched to their phonic ability. They practise de-coding, prosody and comprehension skills with a teacher before further practise at home. Children also develop the fast recognition of 'tricky words'.

Independent reading (individual, grouped or paired) gives the children the opportunity to practise their reading skills with books that are of a level that they can easily access. The school has a reading route for EYFS/KS1 and KS2 made up of a number of reading schemes. The children's reading is carefully monitored by the class teacher and teaching assistants. Children also get to choose books from a well-stocked class or school library.

- Children in EYFS up to Spring term in Year 2 take home their Little Wandle book.
- Spring term in Year 2- Year 6:
 - Children with RA 9.0 – 10.6 alternate between school scheme and additional free readers (class libraries), selected with assistance of the TA/teacher.
 - Children with RA above 10.6 move onto library books from Year Four.
 - All children up to end of year four complete the book banded reading schemes before moving wholly onto library books.
 - Regardless of their reading age, the children in Year 5 and 6 should have library books suitable to their reading age.

Every child is heard to read by their teacher or teaching assistant at least once a week and a comment is made in their reading record.

Home Reading - Reading is not seen as just a 'school activity'. Wider family involvement is statutory at Bridgewater Primary. Parents/carers support children's reading development and this is communicated using a reading record. Children who are not regularly heard read at home need to be made aware to the phase leader and Head teacher. Books are checked and changed daily. Children in Reception to Year 5 are encouraged to read at home at least 4 times per week. Children in Year 6 are encouraged to read at home at least 5 times per week.

A shared book/class novel is read every day at a time suiting each class' timetable and needs.

Wider reading - the school keeps the profile of reading high by celebrating reading achievements; planning opportunities for children to use the class collections and the local library*; organising a author focus and visits; hosting special events for example book weeks, storytellers, and book sales and regularly gathering pupil voice about the texts children have to select from in their classes and libraries.

Reading Environment all classrooms have a bright, well-organised and inviting reading area. Resources and reading areas are all clearly labelled and accessible.

*Books to supplement class libraries and all curriculum topics are available from the Salford Library Service. Teachers place orders termly.

See appendices below for more information.

6. OUR INTENT AND IMPLEMENTATION OF WRITING

At Bridgewater Primary we strive to give children the tools and confidence to be able to write, from an early age, in a range of styles and genres. Therefore planned teaching of writing is based on the teaching established from Pie Corbett's 'Talk for Writing' model and is closely linked to the teaching of reading and phonics.

SEE HOW WE IMPLEMENT WRITING AT BRIDGEWATER

Writing is explicitly taught using the following strategies:

Talk for writing - children are encouraged to talk about their writing before they begin, as they write and after they write. This is applied in whole class learning and teaching and in guided writing. Talk for Writing is used throughout the whole school, including foundation stage.

Shared writing-the teacher models how to write accompanied by a running commentary that explains what is happening and why. Teachers show the children how texts are organised; composition and effect; how to gather ideas, plan, draft and edit writing; and how to present their work.

Independent writing – Children are given the opportunity to write in pairs and groups as well as independently. Children are required to work independently regularly to develop and apply their own skills.

Guided Writing - The teacher tailors the teaching of writing to the needs of a small group or individual, responding quickly to their needs and enabling immediate feedback during independent writing time.

Extended writing – Children are expected to write extensively at least once a week and at the end of every unit of work. This may be in any curriculum area.

Word and Sentence level – Within every unit of work planned, children are taught how to play with words, find out word meanings and derivations and to extend their vocabulary. As they become more confident writers, they experiment with sentence construction and variation.

Phonics and spelling – Little Wandle programme is taught for 20-30 minutes daily up to and including Year 1 or until the children are secure at phase 5. Children are split into ability groups for this session and are taught to blend and segment sounds in order to spell. High frequency words are taught alongside this programme. A rapid catch up phonics intervention programme for children in KS1 and KS2 is delivered, to those children highlighted as needing further support, by trained teaching assistants and teachers. From Year 2 (from Spring term) to Year 6, spelling is taught using the 'Spelling Shed' scheme alongside the online app.

Handwriting is taught from Nursery to Year 6 using the School's Handwriting Policy.

When teaching writing at Bridgewater, we use the following tools to help children progress:

- Emergent writers are given vast opportunities to write with different media and in different styles.
- Teachers use progressive genre features.
- Children are given success criteria for every genre.

7. CROSS-CURRICULAR ENGLISH OPPORTUNITIES

Teachers seek to take advantage of opportunities to make cross-curricular links. They plan for pupils to practise and apply the skills, knowledge and understanding acquired through English lessons to other areas of the curriculum. Whenever children write in all areas of the curriculum the high expectations demanded in English remain the same.

8. THE USE OF ICT

Opportunities to use ICT to support teaching and learning in English are planned for and used as appropriate.

9. THE IMPACT OF OUR ENGLISH CURRICULUM IS CLEAR THROUGH OUR ASSESSMENT AND TARGET SETTING

Work is assessed in line with the Assessment Policy. In addition to this:

- Children are assessed in reading and writing termly. Writing is assessed using the school's KLIPs and through regular key stage, staff and FOS moderations. Reading is teacher assessed using content domains, NTS assessments and through SATs.
- Children from Year 1 to Year 6 are assessed using the Salford Sentence Reading Test twice yearly to calculate a reading age for each child.
- Phonics is assessed half termly at EYFS and KS1.
- Single Word Spelling Test is used to ascertain a spelling age twice a year from Year 1 to Year 6.
- Teachers use strategies such as self and peer assessment and sharing and evaluating pupils' work to promote critical assessment by the children themselves.
- Children are given success criteria against which they can self evaluate their work and target set.

10. INCLUSION

Inclusion Statement

Every child is given the opportunity to be included in all aspects of school life and in all areas of the curriculum. Teaching and learning in the school ensures that all children are set suitable learning challenges alongside the correct level of support. A broad range of teaching styles are adopted in response to diverse learning needs. We make every effort to overcome potential barriers to learning and assessment for individuals and for groups of children. Gifted children will be identified and suitable learning challenges provided.

Pupil progress meetings take place on a regular basis where teachers monitor individual pupil's progress and set targets.

We aim to create a learning environment that nurtures and develops the whole child.

At Bridgewater Primary school, we teach English to all children, whatever their ability and individual needs. English forms part of the school curriculum policy to provide a broad and balanced education to all children. Through our English teaching, we provide learning opportunities that enable all pupils to make good progress. We strive hard to meet the needs of those pupils with special educational needs, disabilities and those learning English as an additional language, and we take all reasonable steps to achieve this. For further details, see separate policies: Special Educational Needs; Disability Discrimination and English as an Additional Language (EAL).

When progress falls significantly outside the expected range, the child may have special educational needs. Our assessment process looks at a range of factors, including: classroom organisation, teaching materials, teaching style and differentiation – so that we can take some additional or different action to enable the child to learn more effectively. Assessment against the National Curriculum using OTrack and other materials allows us to consider each child's attainment and progress against year group expectations. This ensures that our teaching is matched to the child's needs. Teachers also carefully consider adaptations – see below.

11. INTERVENTION PROGRAMMES

Reviewed and evaluated termly: Talking Partners for children who require further support with language skills; Phonics Rapid Catch-up for KS2 children who are not fully fluent at reading or who have not passed the Phonics screening check; Reading Recovery/Switch On intervention; Spelling interventions where appropriate.

12. EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES

All children are provided with equal access to the English curriculum. We aim to provide suitable learning opportunities regardless of gender, ethnicity or home background. A range of resources are used to introduce children with EAL into the English Curricular including a scheme of work that includes vocabulary building, grammar and topic-related subjects. We have high expectations for all children. Our aim as a school is to ensure that all children have equal access to a rich, challenging and rewarding curriculum for English, and that they experience this curriculum in ways that are appropriate for their needs, regardless of gender, ethnicity, or any other determining factors. This school is actively promoting equal opportunities by tracking groups causing concern. Consequently, we make use of a range of interventions, teaching strategies, educational materials and ICT aids to meet the needs of every individual learner along with seeking advice and support from external professionals.

Children for whom English is an additional language are supported in their use of English and will be given opportunities to make use of their home language to assist their learning and to add to the resources of the classroom.

13. ROLE OF SUBJECT LEADER:

The Subject Leader should be responsible for improving the standards of teaching and learning in English through:

Monitoring and evaluating the intent, implementation and impact of English:

- pupil progress
- provision of English (including Intervention and Support programmes)
- the quality of the learning environment
- the deployment and provision of support staff

Taking the lead in policy development.

Auditing and supporting colleagues in their CPD.

Purchasing and organising resources.

Keeping up to date with recent English developments.

14. PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT

Parents support their child's English development by: reading with their child at home and commenting in their reading record; supporting their child with homework tasks and being involved in any reading/writing activities within school.

15. CONCLUSION:

This policy also needs to be in line with other school policies and therefore should be read in conjunction with the following school policies:

Assessment and Marking policy

Special Educational Needs Policy

ICT Policy

Equal Opportunities Policy

Health and Safety Policy

Expectations of the Teachers

At Foundation Stage and Key Stage 1 it is expected that teachers ensure the following takes place:

- To listen carefully to children read regularly
- To show how a book works
- Teacher making time to read to the children daily, choosing carefully from a wide range of stories, poetry and information sources
- Teachers' own enthusiasm for books – the way a teacher handles books and reads stories is really important
- Use of picture books for understanding of story and comprehension skills
- Children making their own books
- Reading nursery rhymes and reading material with recognisable patterns, rhymes and rhythms
- Development of phonics
- Reading class stories
- Retelling stories – important for characterisation and plot
- The use of big books for shared and paired reading experiences
- Labelling of displays – making a reading environment
- Use of magnetic letters and boards
- Using parental support to develop enthusiasm for reading, for example by encouraging parents to read to their children and share books with them
- Use of ICT resources – e.g. shared texts on interactive whiteboard

At Key Stage 2 it is expected that teachers ensure the following takes place:

Careful study of the reading genre over several days leads to children attempting writing in that same genre. This is during a unit of work that may last up to several weeks. Over the unit there will be a balance of shared reading and writing activities. At Key Stage 2 teachers should build on and reinforce reading experiences from Key Stage 1:

- Finding the appropriate match of reading material
- Showing children how to obtain and record information from a text
- Encouraging children to be discriminating readers
- Developing a language about literature which helps children to respond critically to texts and gain an understanding of authorial intent
- Provide time in which children can read silently and without interruption for pleasure and information
- Provide weekly opportunities to reflect and comment on what they have read through purposeful comprehension
- Enabling a child's own writing to form part of the resources for reading
- Providing access to a range of sources of information, including books, maps, dictionaries, ICT resources, recorded stories, television programmes and encyclopaedias

Possible resources to support learners:

BOOKS

Accessible and well organised, clearly labelled and attractively displayed, in a designated book area and around the room.

RANGE OF TEXTS

Include a core collection of books that support learning to read:

- Picture books
- Poetry
- Plays
- First chapter books
- Information books
- Traditional tales from a range of cultures
- Funny books, puzzle books
- Comics and magazines
- Children's own published texts
- Stories on CD with accompanying books
- A range of dual language books
- A range of books where various aspects of community, both local and global, are represented.

STORY PROPS AND PUPPETS with related texts for telling stories.

CHILDREN'S COMMENTS or wall display on the books they have read as class

PHONICS RESOURCES

Phonic mats, cards, Grow the Code, wall displays including:

- Tricky words.
- Flash cards.
- Games to teach the different sounds and games on the ipads.
- Sound mats for each phase.
- Sets of object pots, picture cards.

MULTIPLE SETS of books for guided reading.

TALKING BOOKS available on a classroom computer or iPad.

BOOK AREA a carpeted or comfortable area for browsing and collaborative reading, ideally large enough for the class to gather to hear a story and read aloud.

DISPLAYS OF BOOKS

- Books with a changing focus on authors or genres, such as traditional tales or poetry.
- Books related to class topics on display in the room alongside interactive displays.
- Books in role play area relevant to theme.

How we teach writing at Bridgewater Primary School

This document is written in response to:

- A growing desire to develop a more consistent, systematic approach to writing from EYFS to KS2.
- A need to imitate and apply the clear and uniform approach the school has towards teaching writing.
 - A gap in standards between reading and writing.
 - Less progress made by boys in LKS2.

Through our teaching of writing our intent is to:

- Inspire and motivate children to engage with their learning through our use of high quality texts and authors.
 - Provide models and scaffolds that explicitly teach/demonstrate the writing process – from idea gathering and planning to producing a final piece.
 - Encourage children to be reflective and critical of their own writing.
- Ensure children have a vast bank of vocabulary and sentence structures that they can use to produce high quality writing.

We implement this through Shared Writing - it is an essential part of our teaching of writing and happens every week in the vast majority of English lessons.

“If teachers are not doing shared writing, they are not teaching writing.”

The shared writing process:

Modelled writing (Demonstration *)	“I’ll show you how to do it...”
Shared writing (Joint composition *)	“...now we’ll have a go together...”
Mini-writing	“...you have a go at a little/specific bit on your own...”
Guided writing	“...I’m here to support in a small, focused group on a specific area of the writing...”
Independent writing	“...now you have a go on your own.”

* these are the areas of the teaching process where new/unfamiliar grammar objectives can be introduced and modelled. This can be in an informal manner, e.g. – “Let’s try including...” and the effect of this on the quality of the writing can be discussed, e.g. – “Does this make the writing better? Why/why not...?”

Shared writing should be a two-way process between teacher and pupil where the ongoing discussion centres around, “What do we like about our writing? What could be better/improved?”

Teacher should continually model the ‘re-read to check’ process... Make purposeful errors and ‘act out’ the editing, improving process...

What is modelled writing?

Modelled writing is the first step in any teaching writing style. This is when the teacher is in front of the class doing all of the writing.

If your students struggle greatly with getting their ideas going, come back to this basic step and model your writing process for them. They need to see it being done. Make your thoughts about the writing process known to the students while you are teaching writing to children. For example, teacher may say, "Today I want to write about what happened to me last night. I need to make a web to sort out my thoughts, then I can start putting the words into sentences."

If it is a specific skill lesson, such as opening sentences, teacher might say, "I know that authors need to have strong beginnings to hook their readers into a story. Today I am going to..."

The key to modelled writing is to never assume pupils are following. Tell them everything you are doing and why. It is not enough for them just to watch you. As well, don't try to model so many things that the lesson goes on too long - you will lose their attention. Keep the session pacy and keep assessing levels of engagement.

What is guided writing?

Guided writing is the third step in teaching writing to children. In guided writing, teachers continually provide feedback, redirection and expansion of ideas. Any area of writing can be addressed, but it works well to put similar needs together and address them at the same time.

- The step between teacher directed and independent writing
- Teacher works with students either small group or independently
- Oral discussion of sentences before writing

During the small group activity the children work collaboratively to produce the most effective piece of writing.

What is shared writing?

During shared writing, a teacher will scribe the words, but the students are now invited to contribute to the piece. It would be appropriate for any primary writing.

- Students contribute ideas while the teacher writes
- Lots of discussion, questions and answers
- Thinking aloud continues to be used

Shared writing encourages children to consider why certain writing techniques are effective and the impact they have on the reader.

This is where the teacher demonstrates how to compose an entire piece of text and where vocabulary can be discussed and selected.

Support staff can be used to act as scribes for the teacher.

What is independent writing?

This is where the students effectively utilise written language for their own purposes or as assigned by the teacher.

- Students use ideas from shared writing to produce their own independent piece
- Reference to charts and other materials to revise and edit composition
- Teacher evaluation for growth

This part of teaching writing to children must always include a time to share. It is critical to provide validation of your young author's process and growth as a writer. This provides them not only recognition, but an opportunity to receive feedback.

Children must also be encouraged to assess their own writing through structured AFL procedures.

Teaching writing in Early Years Foundation Stage

Children are continually encouraged to engage with and respond to high quality texts and are provided with thoughtful opportunities for speaking and listening and writing.

The “Talk for Writing” approach is used to allow children to become confident with storytelling.

Children are encouraged, through play, to create and tell stories which are recorded and displayed in classrooms.

Teaching writing in Key Stage 1

A text-based approach is used in all Key Stage 1 classes.

Modelled and shared writing occurs in every writing lesson.

Children engage with the shared writing process and contribute ideas and suggestions throughout.

The “Talk for Writing” approach is used consistently and children learn, orally rehearse and tell stories.

Imitation: children retell stories they have learnt both orally and through writing.

Innovation: children develop, extend and change key details of a learnt story and then retell both orally and through writing.

Independent Application: children create a ‘new’ story.
--

Children begin to assess their own writing by commenting on what is effective and why. Children begin, with support, to mark other children’s writing and suggest ways it can be improved.

Teaching writing in Key Stage 2

A text-based approach is used in all Key stage 2 classes.

Shared writing occurs frequently (in 3-4 lessons weekly) and involves children in the writing process. Children engage in discussion regarding effectiveness of grammatical/language techniques and assess accuracy in structure. The teacher encourages all children to share suggestions for writing and all input is valued and considered as a means to build self-esteem and confidence.

The “Talk for Writing” approach is used consistently and children learn, orally rehearse and tell stories.

Imitation: children retell stories they have learnt both orally and through writing.
Innovation: children develop, extend and change key details of a learnt story and then retell both orally and through writing.
Independent Application: children create a ‘new’ story.

AFL techniques are explicitly taught and children learn the skills to assess their own and others writing and offer feedback and suggestions for improvements. Children use ‘purple polishing pens’ to show how they have improved their writing. English lessons are dedicated to the teaching of these skills and giving children the opportunity and time to reflect, edit and improve their writing within all genres of writing.

Once children have written and edited their drafts they will write up their final ‘polished’ piece in their Big Write book. This is then used by teachers, alongside their drafts as an assessment tool to inform planning and organise the direction of teaching at word, sentence and text level.

Children use some English lessons to plan, jot down vocabulary, sentence constructions that they are taught or find. These can then be used during shared write and / or in their independent writing.

Teaching of Grammar, Punctuation and Spellings.

- Teachers plan English lessons using a text-based approach and meaningful grammar links are woven throughout the teaching units.
- Teachers plan for ambitious vocabulary to be introduced and used within their modelled / shared writing lessons.
- Through shared writing children are encouraged to discuss (with teacher support) the effectiveness and impact of certain punctuation, grammatical structures and vocabulary and to consider the difference this makes to the writing.
- Punctuation and grammatical misconceptions in knowledge are picked up in Key Stage 2 through writing tasks and are explicitly taught through the shared write.

Teaching guide for progression in writing year by year.

Pie Corbett's teaching guide for progression in writing year by year document (see appendix) is used as a guide for progression for teachers.

This document outlines the development of English skills from Reception up to Year 6 and will ensure children build upon their vocabulary, sentence structures/constructions, knowledge of punctuation and grammar year on year.

Appendix
